AUTOS AGAIN ARE TO PARK ALONG THE CURB

The present street regulations, requiring automobiles to remain at least three feet from the curb when parking in the city streets was abolished this afternoon by an order given to Chief of Police T. E. Browning by City Commissioner Chris Fyare. "It is no longer necessary to enforce this rule," said Commissioner Fyare, "for we now do the street flushing early in the morning before the automobiles are assembled on the streets. And so we have decided to grant the privilege of parking close to the curb again, as this will make more room in the streets for traffic. "Sometimes machines have been so large that when they have been parked the driver would leave them nearer five feet than three, thereby causing much space to be lost to traffic. Earlier in the spring, however, it was deemed necessary to have the machines kept far enough away to allow the sweepers to follow the gutter and move the refuse that was caught in the flushing."

EDWIN T. OLSEN BACK FROM SERVICE IN EUROPE

Edwin T. Olsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Olsen of 244 Twenty-seventh street, has returned to his home in this city after serving 16 months in France and Germany with the medical detachment of the Seventh United States Infantry, Third division. Young Olsen enlisted August 5, 1917, and was sent to France with the medical detachment soon after. He entered the first line trenches in July, 1918, and was at the front almost continuously until after the armistice was signed. He was then sent with the army of occupation into Germany and he remained there until the first of last month.

He took part in most of the great offensives, and was one of the sixteen members of his unit that escaped without injury in the many engagements that they were in.

Olsen has in his possession many interesting photographs of scenes in No Man's Land. One in particular is the photograph of the grave of Quentin Roosevelt.

We were released from service with the army of occupation last month. While en route to this country he stopped at the Azores, and was there when Lt. Commander Reed landed on the second step of his ocean flight. He states that the people tendered the commander a very hearty reception.

Sporting Goods Store Is Robbed During Night

Revolvers, guns, cartridges and knives, totalling in value more than $700, were carried away yesterday morning by thieves who entered the Armstrong Sporting Goods store, near Grant avenue and Twenty-fifth street. The matter was reported to the police yesterday morning, but it was not until yesterday afternoon that the amount of the loss was learned. The thieves, it is stated, entered the store through a rear window, bending the iron bars with which the window was protected. This is the second time that the store has been robbed within the past six months.

A John Smith was arrested by the police last evening, and is being held by the police in connection with the case. He will be held by the police pending further investigation.

DOGS MUST BE KEPT UNDER MUZZLE, IS THE ORDER

A campaign against unmuzzled dogs will be commenced at once, according to an announcement of the city health department. It is alleged that there is hardly a muzzled dog in the city at the present time, although the ordinance on the subject is clear.

In the announcement it is stated that the ordinance will be strictly enforced during the hot summer months, as this is believed to be the most dangerous period. It is reported to the health department by Wesley Mann, collector of dog taxes, that the health department is becoming more and more noticeable everywhere in the city. Mr. Mann reported that he was attacked by a bulldog when he stopped to speak to the owner concerning the license.

An official of the health department said this morning that it was apparent very few people understood that the law was still in effect, that many believed that it had been passed to provide protection during the epidemic of rabies. This, however, is not the case, it is said, as the ordinance is still in effect and will be enforced. Warning is given that all dogs caught running loose and unmuzzled will be taken to the city pound regardless of license tag.

DEFENDERS OF STARS AND STRIPES ARE TO ATTEND

A delegation of ex-service men from Weber county and Ogden city will go to Salt Lake City to attend the state caucus of the American Legion, which has been called to meet at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the tabernacle. The meeting will mark the opening of a two-day session at which all ex-service men in the state are urged to be present.

Tomorrow night a dance will be held in the Hotel Utah in honor of all ex-service men in the state, and all those who served in any branch of the military or naval service during the present war are urged to attend the caucus, no elected or appointed delegates having been provided for in the call sent out by Brigadier General Richard W. Young. Any man who served in any branch of the military or naval forces is eligible to sit in the caucus and take part in the discussions and voting as a delegate.

No delegates were selected by the Soldiers', Sailors' and Marines' club of Weber county in accordance with the fact that each man who saw service is entitled to attend. The officers of the local club urge all men of Ogden and Weber county who can possibly do so to attend as matters of great importance to all those who served in the great world war will come up.

This caucus will take up measures that will be put before the national convention of the American Legion to be held in November at Minneapolis, and it is desired to have a representative opinion of all the men of the state of Utah on the various measures.

INSANE SOLDIER TO BE OPERATED ON FOR SKULL INJURY

Sheriff H. C. Peterson received a telegram this morning from Mrs. Fanny Sheritt, Piper, Alabama, inquiring what had been done with her son, Fred M. Powell, the soldier who had been under the care of the sheriff for some weeks and yesterday removed to Provo where he will be held for two weeks under the observation of Captain Ramer of the U. S. public health service.

The mother was advised that the government had ordered that her son should receive treatment from the government either in Utah or New York. A detailed report of the case will be made to the mother.

It was stated that when Powell was taken to Provo yesterday, Captain Ramer made an immediate investigation. It was found that Powell had been wounded at the back of the skull by a piece of shrapnel or shell. The doctor was of the opinion that Ramer should be taken to the army hospital in New York for an operation that would remove the blood pressure on the brain. He said Powell's case was one that could and would be cured.

SCHUMANN-HEINK GIVES SPLENDID CONCERT

Madame Schumann-Heink thrilled and delighted her audience at the Orpheum last evening by her pleasing personality and magnificent singing of a program that gave her hearers a fine conception of the splendid talents of the famous, and we may add, most admired contralto singer. She was assisted by Ernesto Berumen, an exceptionally pleasing young pianist, who received the hearty applause of a well pleased audience, and by Frank La Forge, composer and accompanist who responded with fine, artistic touch to every mood of America's best known prima donna.

Madame Schumann-Heink has gained, as the years whitened her hair, in gracious charm, wonderful expression and graceful movements that so finely bring forth the sentiment embodied in the songs she sings. Her grand notes and her tender ones bring fine response from her hearers.

"Before the Crucifix," La Forge's composition, was finely rendered and "Taps," by Pasternack brought tears to the eyes of all and, in response to an encore "Donnie Boy," brought smiles in equal contrast.

Called back for a final song at the closing of her program Madame Schumann-Heink sang "When the Boys Come Home," a strain of which brought the audience to their feet and as she finished the last note of her song she stretched forth her hands and the entire audience joined her in singing the Star Spangled Banner.

Schumann-Heink's presentation of Ardit's "Bolero," gave the opportunity for those who admire her most in grand opera to hear a concert number that comes nearest to the parts she took in Metropolitan roles, while in the "Indian Love Song" and the "Danza," she appeared as in the lighter moments, a reminder of the Schumann-Heink that successfully essayed the comic opera.

Ernesto Berumen delighted his audience and was compelled to respond to encores, his technique as a pianist, and the clearness of the tones he secured, could but win a place with music lovers.

Frank La Forge has been an accompanist in a number of America's greatest concert singers. As a composer, he has become better and better known. His appearance with Madame Schumann-Heink last evening was a pleasing surprise to his Ogden hearers.

The program of the evening was as follows:
1. Vittoria Aria (in Italian) W. A. Mozart
Mme. Schumann-Heink
2. Ballet of the Happy Spirits Haydn
Minuet Beethoven
Dance Schumann-Heink
3. Before the Crucifix La Forge

FIRE CHIEF ALLOWED FUNDS FOR TRIP TO KANSAS CITY

Chief G. A. Graves of the Ogden fire department will be commissioned to represent the city at the Forty-seventh annual convention of the International Association of Fire Engineers which meets in Kansas City, June 24th to 27th, the city commission having ordered the allowance of $150 to defray his expenses.

Chief Graves is vice-president of the organization and is also on a number of important committees that will take up modern methods of fire fighting and invoke new and scientific measures for fire prevention. Ogden stands as the only city of its class in the United States with a rating of fire destruction so small that it is represented by a fraction. This is due to an efficient fire department and to a good water supply, it is stated by city officials.

Ray Daniels in Heavy Battles on French Territory

Ray Daniels of I company, 168th Infantry, 42nd or "Rainbow" division, son of Henry and Elizabeth Richards Daniels, who returned to his home in North Ogden May 17 after a long and arduous experience on the battle fronts in France, made a report in the Mutual, Sunday evening, of some of his activities.

He entrained at Ogden Nov. 3, 1917 for Camp Lewis, arriving on the 6th, but only stopped there until the 11th, when he again entrained for Camp Mills, Long Island, and in a few days continued on to Camp Merritt, N. J., thence to Hoboken to be conveyed overseas, and left for France Dec. 15th, landing at Liverpool Dec. 23rd. He was pushed right on to France, arriving there on New Year's day, 1918. Feb. 23 after a mixed experience of rest and a little training, was transferred to the "Rainbow" division and moved on to the Lorraine front, and March 14, after a very little training went right into the trenches and continued in the battle line for 110 days except the usual periods of relief and one month in the hospital with the influenza. July 3rd he was shifted to the Champagne front, where the fighting was out in the open, without any protection of trenches. Here the Germans put up some of the most terrific bombardments of the whole war as the holding of that front meant so much to them. He had the peculiar sensation of having his belt and his canteen pierced with shrapnel. A wild charge was made on Hill No. 112 and taken from the Germans, and of the men taken prisoners all seemed quite willing to pass back through the lines of the "Yanks" to the rear as prisoners of war. It was about this time he lost track of his comrade and townsman William L. Blaylock, with whom he had been privileged to "bunk" so long. He had become gassed and was taken to the hospital.

He was visibly affected in relating his experiences in witnessing the death of another very close friend and comrade, David Jesperson of Huntsville, this county.

In the absence of shell holes as was their custom to drop into to save themselves from the rain of shot and shell, he (Daniels) dropped into an indentation in the surface, but when a bullet went through the seat of his pants, he soon found it was insufficiently deep to save him and had to move.

September 12 he was transferred to the Miel drive, but there was changed back to his commissary department, and put to driving mules to a supply wagon. While not in actual fighting at that place, he could see some very hard action and saw our forces go triumphantly over the top. Ten days later he was moved to the Argonne front where the 91st division was relieved after their most terrific fighting, and he was in but one more drive before that memorable 11th day of November, 1918, when, instead of the deadly rain of shot and shell, joy and happiness took the place of misery.

HINES POINTS OUT NEED OF RAILROAD FUNDS

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Only by increased rates can the government controlled railroads meet operating expenses, Director General Hines of the railroad administration today told the house appropriations committee. He is opposed to any increase at this time, however, because it might advance the cost of necessities of life.

Mr. Hines who appeared to ask for $1,200,000,000 additional for the railroad administration's revolving fund for the remainder of this calendar year, declared that while wages of railroad employees had been increased 51 to 52 per cent during government control, they now were only "reasonable and fair." He added that he could see no prospect of reducing them.

REPUBLIC ASKS FOR PROTECTION

Willing to Accept Its Full Share of Responsibility in the War.

WIESBADEN, Germany, Monday, June 2.—(By The Associated Press.)—Dr. Dorten, a former state's attorney and head of the provisional government of the Rhineland republic, yesterday forwarded two telegrams to the allied peace delegations at Paris. In one he announced that the delegates of the Rhineland republic had assembled at Wiesbaden and proclaimed the Rhineland republic, adding: "They do not propose to shirk the obligations connected with the work of restoration in Belgium and northern France. They implore the protection of the French against their opponents and beg the privilege of coming to Paris for negotiations."

The second telegram was as follows: "Everything is quiet in Mayence. The majority of the population is with us."

The flush often beats the straight in a political game.
